The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

The Complex Court

There are many directions to writing for the media. There's straight news, features, sports, editorials, society, church, and women's interests to name major ones.

A particularly tough one in the straight news element is crime.

Once, a long time ago, the police reporter handled his job by checking the blotter, talking to some of the police officials, embellishing the yarn a little to make it more readable, and turning the stuff in.

A subsidiary to the crime beat is the courtroom reporter. That's when the job becomes complex. Few lay people understand the rules and regulations regarding courts. Even some of the lawyers have their problems with courtroom behavior and action.

Court reporting is tough! Let's look at a list of categories and some of the questions that beg answers for even the seasoned reporters.

Some of these matters and the questions which needed to be answered were discussed in a seminar for courtroom writers recently.

The subjects are reproduced here only to suggest how complicated our courts and courtroom newswriting has become.

THE SHARED ETHICS OF COURTROOM COVERAGE.

The common assumption is that the public has a right to know. How much? How little? What is ethical behavior in terms of courtroom coverage?

THE GRAND JURY.

Do you understand the difference between a grand jury indictment and a felony prosecution that starts with a preliminary hearing in the Municipal Court? How are Grand Juries selected? Should the Grand Jury be abolished? Should there be one in a county or two?

LIBEL/INVASION OF PRIVACY.

Did you know that the danger of a false report is no longer the major civil lawsuit danger for a working reporter? Now one must also consider the possibility he will be found to have invaded a person's privacy.

JUVENILE COURTS COMPARED WITH ADULT COURTS.

Should minors who commit violent crimes be tried as adults? Go to prison? How can our justice system deal with the out-of-control teenager, the truant child who hasn't yet committed a crime? And what about juvenile proceedings — off-the-record or on?

SENTENCING: DETERMINATE VS. INDETERMINATE.

How much time in prison is a violent rape worth? What about an armed robbery? Should prison sentences be computed by a determinate sentence formula or is it better to depend on the independent discretion of the trial judge?

MOTIONS BY DEFENDANTS.

Search and seizure, wire tapping, motions to suppress evidence. More and more often before a big case goes to trial there is a preliminary battle over whether the police followed the rules in making their case. What are the rules and procedure used to decide these motions?

CIVIL: RESTRAINING ORDERS AND INJUNCTIONS.

Restraining orders, injunctions, writs and orders to show cause can really be confusing, particularly for those who cover only the criminal courts. The civil side — child custody hearings, restraining of picketing — is also intricate.

APPELLATE COURTS AND THEIR IMPACT.

After the protection afforded defendants in the trial courts, is it really necessary to have interminable appeals and motions for a new trial? The Newsman's Shield law has been the subject of several appellate decisions. Why couldn't all of this have been accomplished at the trial court level? What exactly is the impact of the Appellate Court.

For those who wanted to know a little more about our court system and didn't know what to ask, the above material gives guidance.

For specific answers call the clerk of a court or your local district attorney.

But don't be surprised if they cannot supply answers to all of your questions.

L.G. City Gets $30,000 Tax Funds

State comptroller Ken Corey this week announced distribution of August apportionment of highway users, cigarette and motor vehicle license.

On the schedule submitted by Corey, the City of Lemon Grove will not receive any highway users funds but he will return $6,142 in cigarette taxes and $24,883 in motor vehicle license fees.

San Marcos, often compared to Lemon Grove, will get $12,688 highway user; $5,538 cigarette user, and $10,586 motor vehicle taxes.

Highway users funds start coming to Lemon Grove in the next quarter, according to the L.G. City Clerk.

SV Flood Tag Appealed to Feds

Appeals have been signed by Board of Supervisors Chairman James Bates and are on their way to the Federal Insurance Administration to drop an A-Zone flood designation for some 500 homes in the Spring Valley area.

Last week, the Federal Insurance Administration designated a large portion of the Spring Valley area subject to high risk floods stating there is a one per cent chance of a disastrous flood to occur.

According to County Flood Control Commissioner of Zone III, James Adamo, the appeal sets up the way for the Spring Valley area to dump the A-Zone designation.

"The problem is Spring Valley is really an inadequate drainage system," said Adamo, "We feel the A-Zone designation is unfair, yet I am almost certain, the area will at least receive a B-Zone classification."

The A-Zone classification requires some $30 million worth of property in the area to carry an average of $75 to $125 more insurance per year. The value of many of the homes will drop due to this designation.

A B-Zone classification means the area is flood prone yet does not make the insurance mandatory.

HUSBAND OF THE FIRST LADY — Lemon Grove Mayor Jim Dorman displays newspapers which featured his recent visit to various British cities. But the one on the right subordinates him in a feature which headlines the story "The First Lady of Lemon Grove."

British Welcome Mat Out for Mayor Dorman

By Max Goodwin

Special recognition was accorded Lemon Grove Mayor Jim Dorman by 3 mayors while he was in the British Isles on a 3-weeks vacation to the homeland of his wife, Jennifer.

He was accompanied by his wife and their 3 children, Amy, 10, Rachel, 7 and Alyson 4.

The first visit was Mrs. Dorman's hometown, Cleethorpes, where, as Miss Jennifer Bennett, she had been the city's beauty queen.

The mayor of Cleethorpes ceremoniously presented Dorman with a plaque carrying the burrough's historic coat of arms engraved upon it. Dorman gave the mayor a proclamation which had been ordered and signed by the Lemon Grove City council.

At nearby Grimsby, a city founded under a charter granted by King John in 1201, the mayor presented Dorman with a book containing the history of the ancient city. "I promised him a copy of our historic incorporation booklet (July 1, 1977)," Dorman said.

Big as San Diego

In Leeds, a city of about the same size as San Diego, the Lord Mayor gave Dorman a tie with the city's shield on it. The Lord Mayor accepted a copy of Lemon Grove's incorporation booklet in return.

"In England, as here mayors are ceremonial except as they serve on their councils. But a Lord Mayor is designated by the ruling monarch," he said.

Dorman attended a council meeting at Cleethorpes and left after 3 hours. "Councils in the 3 cities I visited were large — about 48 members — and they meet only once every 6 weeks. The groups are politically oriented and strongly partisan. Meetings often last all night because of the time between meetings and because of the large number of members. Each seems to want to talk about a given topic. The chairs get hard after a few hours," he said.

He noted that British councils have less legislative authority than that of Lemon Grove. "Councils do not make ordinances," he said. "Police and fire services are nationalized and are beyond council control. The important decisions stem from land-use problems."

On BBC

Dorman was interviewed over BBC radio on August 20 and he was questioned about the differences in California and British councils. One reporter, aware that Mrs. Dorman had once been the reigning beauty, asked Dorman to judge a beauty contest the next day. But he couldn't. That was the day he was leaving.

Dorman found the people he visited to be friendly and inquisitive about the American form of government. Most of the citizens there are disgust-

Showcase Cinema Owner Arrested

Sheriff's deputies in a raid last week shut down the Showcase Cinema, 9620 Campo road in Spring Valley and arrested the manager on four counts of sales and distribution of obscene matter.

Arrested was John Ronald Heimer, 26, of 10325 Madrid way, Apt. 109, Spring Valley, the manager of the Cinema.

Deputies also seized a number of films in the raid Thursday night.

ECOLOGIST — Dr. Robert Burns, Lemon Grove's mayor pro tem, complained several times about the tumbleweed growing on the center divider at Imperial and Lester aves.

Last week, while Mayor Jim Dorman was in the British Isles, Burns served as mayor and with the full authority of the office, personally removed the offending growth and hauled it away. Motorists now have a good view of the bottom half of the post on which is posted "Must turn left".

It was about as much labor as a mayor can stand as indicated in the lower photo. Meanwhile, the Chamber of Commerce hired a cleanup firm to cut weeds, pick up trash and water the plants in the plaza.

County Cuts Property Tax Rate by 45.7 Cents

Even with Tuesday's decision by the San Diego County Board of Supervisors to cut the county wide tax rate by 45.7 cents, the overall effect on tax bills may be limited.

The Supervisors set the county property tax rate at $1.825 per $100 assessed valuation, the lowest the rate has been since 1945. Affected are nearly one half million property owners in San Diego County.

In 1945-46 the county tax rate was $1.72.

Even though the tax dropped dramatically, it is estimated it will generate about $112 million or about $5 million less than was generated last year with a rate of $2.282.

The Supervisors predicted many tax bills would go up as a result of levies by other taxing agencies such as school districts.

Locally, Lemon Grove School district is asking for a tax increase of about six cents and according to L.G. School Board Chairman Henry Reinecke, this is part of the normal fluctuation of the rate. The Lemon Grove School District tax rate, after dropping two consecutive years (1975 and 1976) will be up, proportionally to those drops.

Many of the other taxing agencies locally have made moves to lower their rates, at least tentatively.

Yet Supervisor Tom Hamilton attacked many of the county school districts and said, "It's about time the people turn their attention to the people who are really spending the money.

"If they don't exercise their opinions at the polls, they are going to see a continued excalation in the property taxes to support the various school systems."

L.G. Cycle Crash Leaves One Dead

One person died and another was seriously injured in a motorcycle accident at 7 p.m. Sunday in the 2800 block of Skyline dr., Lemon Grove.

What is a City?

Legislative Procedure

ORDINANCES. Where the particular ordinance has not been prepared in advance:

The "no objection" process may be followed, instructing the city attorney to prepare the same.

Where the particular ordinance has been prepared in advance:

1. Introduction (first reading): Technically, no action is necessary to introduce an ordinance other than for the sponsor thereof to declare the same to be introduced by the reading thereof in full.

The more usual and probably preferable method is to have the same introduced or placed on first reading by motion:

Any ordinance may be read at either or both of first and second reading "by title only".

Voice vote procedure to "read by title only" is set forth below. (Any member may demand roll call vote, and vote must be unanimous, otherwise motion fails and the ordinance must be read in full).

No changes except clerical corrections are allowed after first reading.

Adoption (at least five days later):

Either must be read in full, or voice vote procedure to be read "by title only."

Mayor or clerk reads title; then council votes on such motion. (Roll call, if demanded.)

If passed unanimously, ordinance is ready for adoption, otherwise must be read in full.

Roll call procedure to adopt. (Voice vote is legally sufficient.) Each ordinance should be passed only by this double motion method: a combination motion to "adopt by reading title only" is dangerous in that if the council split four to one or three to two, the passage is defective; reading in full can only be waived by unanimous vote.

Effective date. All ordinances, except as provided in Section 36937, Government Code, shall become effective 30 days after adoption or upon such later date as may be designated in the ordinance.

Publishing. It is the duty of the city clerk to publish or post the ordinance as set forth in Section 36933, Government Code, within 15 days after adoption; failure to do so may invalidate the ordinance.

Emergency Ordinances. Emergency ordinances must pass by a 4/5ths majority vote, must state the findings for urgency, must be published a become effective immediately. Emergency ordinances may be declared void if no true urgency existed.

Having an Affair

Q. I have a problem.

I am having an affair with a 45-year-old man, and I am 25, married and have two kids. My husband is good to me, sometimes, but I still want this man.

He is divorced and says he loves me. Tell me how to break it off.

A. Just tell him good-bye. He is no good for you and he doesn't love you at all. He simply wants sex and you are stupidly falling for the oldest line in history, namely, "I love you."

Get with it and act like a real wife and mother. Make your children proud of you, and do not warp their lives by letting them discover their mother is a tramp.

Tell this fellow where to go and mean it.

We have a booklet, A FIRST-AID KIT FOR MARRIAGE, which has helped others with questions such as yours, and a copy is on its way to you. Anyone who wishes a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Snide Mother-in-law

Q. I have a mother-in-law problem.

I'd like to feel close to her, but she makes it impossible.

She has a personality problem that is hard to overlook.

At work she dishes out snide remarks and does the same to her in-laws. It also seems every time we are together she will find something sharp to say.

I feel many times, she thinks she is smarter than everyone else and enjoys laughing at people. At other times she just wants to be a little cruel. My husband won't say anything to defend me.

How could you tell her about her personality? How do you change at attitude?

A. One wonders why you think you need to be defended. And also, it is rather presumptuous to tell anybody about the weakness of their personality.

Perhaps the change of attitude should be in those who have to deal with this so-called "snide" mother-in-law.

It would seem that the best procedure in this situation is to urbanely take this lady as she is. That may not be easy to do, but in so doing, we believe she will gradually become less of a problem.

And you may become increasingly wiser in how to deal with human nature.

Fantasies

Q. I'm a teenager who lives in fantasies all the time.

I know that a certain amount of fantasies is normal, but I live in them constantly. They've become easier to face than reality, and it is causing me to be sort of a recluse.

Being alone makes me lonely, the loneliness leads to being upset, being upset leads to crying and I end up physically ill.

I've tried talking to my parents about it, but they take it wrong and get upset. I've talked to God about it, but that relieves the pain only for the time being.

Please don't suggest counseling because we just don't have the money but please help me.

A. You do not need money groups. Healthy activity dissi your pastor for advice. He will either help you himself or direct you to a competent counselor.

You are going around in vicious circles, getting nowhere. Your unhealthy thought pattern causes your attempt to escape into fantasy. Force yourself out of "loner" attitude by getting involved with church or community youth to obtain counseling. Go to pates fantasy escapism.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564. If you would like to talk directly with a Prayer Partner, call Prayer Line (212) 481-1050. Reduced long-distance rates in effect nights and weekends.

Farley Speaks at B'fast

Bruce Farley will be the featured speaker at the 8 a.m. Men's Prayer Breakfast Saturday at St. Therese Catholic Church, 5815 Navajo rd.

Farley, former civic, social, and business leader who was convicted and imprisoned was recently released on probation.

Farley said, "God visited me in my prison cell and I was immediately born again. I now care for the souls of men and realize the super power and wealth is not capable of bringing peace to man. Man must truly find God to be at peace."

Farley recently gave his testimony as the pre-game devotional to the San Diego Padres and Los Angeles Dodgers baseball team at San Diego Stadium and was urged by both teams to continue.

AREA BIRTHS

August 19

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel L. Kirby, Jr., Spring Valley, a boy, Jeremy Lee.

August 21

Mr. and Mrs. Jodie J. Langford, Spring Valley, a girl, Jodie Lynn.

August 22

Mr. and Mrs. Palme D. Gudmundson, Spring Valley, a girl, Sina Marie.

Grove Woman Honored At Missionary Day

Church Women United will celebrate Missionary Inspiration Day tomorrow in Mount Erie Baptist Church, 511 S. 47th st., San Diego.

All county CWU units may participate in this program designed to emphasize mission work and to honor missionaries in the area.

The Rev. Joe Brown, who founded and supports a mission near Tijuana, will be among those recognized.

Church Women United from every section of the county has strongly contributed to this effort.

Virginia Stillman, a longtime resident of Lemon Grove, has coordinated CWU's assistance and in appreciation of her tireless work, Rev. Brown will present her with a plaque in ceremonies tomorrow.

Registration for the day will begin at 9:30 a.m., program on home and foreign mission in today's world will be given at 10 a.m., recognition of missionaries at 11, and luncheon at 12:30.

Oletha Spikes is taking reservations for lunch. She may be contacted at the church or at her home, 2003 Bayview Heights Dr., No. 63.

Skyline Notes

The first quarterly business meeting of the Skyline congregation is set for Sunday at 7 p.m. in the church, 1345 Skyline dr., Lemon Grove.

In other notes from Skyline:

Women's Retreat

Registration deadline is September 10. The cost is $37.50 per person and Dorothy Berk, 7915 Barton dr., Lemon Grove, is taking reservations.

Infant Baptism

A dedication and baptism of infants will be offered during the morning service September 11. Parents should contact the church at 460-5000 to make arrangements.

Adult Baptism

An adult baptism will be held also on September 11 at the 5:30 p.m. service. Candidates should also contact Pastor Butcher at the church to make arrangements.

Membership Classes

Classes which prepares candidates for church membership will be conducted on three consecutive Sunday evenings beginning September 11. They will be held in room 203 beginning at 7 p.m.

Teachers Needed

The Skyline Preschool is hiring teachers for the Fall term. Jerry Hesse will take application for teachers weekdays 8:30 a.m. to noon.

'King and I' is Starlight's Last and Best Presentation

If Starlight had scheduled a couple more plays over its 3-play season, it would probably have won an Oscar.

Each of the plays have been progressively better in every category and "The King and I" was thet best of all.

The king (Newell Tarrant) was a king in many respects. He is tall, broad and handsome. He performed as well as Yule Brenner in the movie role and even looked somewhat like him. But his performance was strictly Tarrant and first rate.

Lady Thiang (Rebecca Reyes) has an outstanding voice and her presentation added to the high quality of the show.

Equally outstanding was the "Uncle Tom's Cabin" scene done in oriental motif and style. As a matter of fact, all of the costumes were colorful and authentic.

A sterling performance was registered by Jamie Torcellini, as Chulalongkorn.

Starlight has the problem of freeze acting when airplanes approach their San Diego landing and often the viewers attention wanders. But not with "The King". It holds the audience's attention throughout by transporting the feeling of the story over the footlights.

Many popular Rodgers and Hammerstein tunes wrap around the story. This reviewer's favorites were "Hello, Young Lover" and "Kiss in the Shadow"

"The King and I" will play Thursday through Sunday to close the season. L. Anderson

Reading Prescriptions Subject of Booklet

When you get a prescription from your physician do you try to figure out what it says so you can do some comparison shopping?

If you know exactly what the name of the drug is and the strength, you can compare prices at different stores before having your prescription filled.

To help you do this, the Food and Drug Administration has a free reprint from its magazine, the "FDA Consumer."

For a copy of Reading Prescriptions, send a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 667E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

The form of medication will be indicated by an abbreviation such as "cap" for capsule, or "tab" for tablet.

Liquids usually are denoted as "el" for elixir, or "sy" for syrup, or "sol" for solution.

The dosage is usually listed in metric measures, such as "50 mg." meaning 50 milligrams.

The physician will indicate the total number of pills or volume of liquid medication.

Refill information will probably be indicated in an abbreviated form, such as "refill 2x." That means you can get the same amount of the drug two more times without getting a new prescription.

VLM Christian School To Open on Sept. 11

Church School begins September 11 at 9:15 a.m. at Vista La Mesa Christian Church.

Scheduled for the 11th will be a "Celebration" general session which will be included in morning worship services and coffee hour.

Seminar

A Serendipity Leadership Training Seminar will be conducted September 10 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Hilton Inn.

Registration fees include lunch and coffee. Groups of four from the same church receive a reduced rate of $20 for the session. Individually the session costs $30.

Grace Van Winkle or Liz Woodward are taking reservations. They may be contacted through the Vista La Mesa Christian Church, 463-9909.

Unity Walk

The Seventh annual Unity Walk held in the San Fernando Valley has been scheduled for September 24. The walk is sponsored by the Christian Church of Southern California and Southern Nevada.

The 25 mile walk benefits the Eastmont Community Center and the All Peoples Christian Center both of Los Angeles as well as CROP, the community hunger appeal of Church World Service.

Directories

Church directories are now available at Vista La Mesa Church. They may be picked up at the Church's office at 4210 Massachusetts.

General Assembly

Forty interest groups will be on agenda for the General Assembly, Disciples of Christ, when they meet in Kansas City, Missouri, October 25.

Topics include financial planning for the congregation and the individual, the older adult, prison ministry, the charismatic movement, human rights, hunger and violence on television.

Groups will meet from 2:30 to 5 p.m.

SV Store Hosts Party

The Lachapelle 7-11 Store, 9365 Jamacha boulevard, Spring Valley, will sponsor a party Saturday to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Campaign.

Held in the parking lot of the store beginning at 7 p.m. there will be music, clowns, and free Jerry Lewis-Muscular Dystrophy balloons.

Also included in the event is a drawing for a television set, an AM-FM radio, a Polaroid camera, tickets to Padre and Charger games, dinners for two at area restaurants, and cases of soda.

Tickets for the drawing are priced at 50 cents each or three for $1.

The store's phone number is 479-6414 and the party is sponsored by Barnett Lachapelle.

Big Brothers Group Sets Dinner Date

The fifteenth annual Big Brothers of San Diego Gourmet Dinner will be held at Town and Country Convention Center on Wednesday, September 7, with Christopher Sickels serving as general chairman.

Assisting Sickels with ticket sales and arrangements are Stephen Vida, Charles Cono, Richard Scott, Don Cohn, and the Big Brothers board of directors.

The annual Gourmet Dinner is the main source of income for the local Big Brothers program which is 100% privately funded, receiving no United Way nor government funds.

Big Brothers provides adult male companionship and guidance on a one-to-one basis for boys 8 to 16 years of age who are growing up without a father or male "role model" in their lives.

The movement started in New York in 1903 and now has programs in nearly 300 U.S. and Canadian cities. Big Brothers of San Diego was organized in 1961, and now has a north county branch office in Encinitas.

Many judges and law enforcement officials have lauded Big Brothers as an effective anti-deliquency effort.

Canning Ideas Booklet Available from Gov't

Home canning is one of those nice old-fashioned things that people still do for a variety of reasons — from saving money to preserving the garden's best to perk up winter suppers.

Whatever the reason, be sure you're using safe home canning methods.

To help you, the U.S. Department of Agriculture has a booklet, Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables, giving different canning methods and safety tips. For your copy, send 45 cents to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 122E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.

Late Filers Eligible For 80 Percent of Homeowners' Exemption

Californians who earned and occupied a home as their principal residence on March 1, and who did not apply in time for homeowner's exemption on their property tax are eligible for 80 percent of that exemption, provided they file a claim with their county assessor before 5 p.m. December 1.

Iris Sankey, Member, State Board of Equalization. announced that persons who have been ineligible for homeowner's exemption since 1968 because they received public assistance may also apply to their assessor for the exemption.

Sankey said that public assistance recipients who may apply are homeowners who owned and occupied their home as of March 1, and who receive Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), General Assistance (GA), recipients of the gold-colored check from the U. S. Treasurer marked, "State Payments Included," or those who receive any other assistance from the state, county, or city.

Sankey cautioned that claim forms will not be mailed automatically. They may be obtained from the office of each county assessor. Claimants having questions about their eligibility may inquire at the assessor' office.

Art Film Shows Monday

"The Challenge — A Tribute to Modern Art," a film nominated for an Academy Award for Best Documentary in 1975, will be shown in the James S. Copley Auditorium of the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m.

The film traces the history of modern art through interviews and studio visits with Picasso, Matisse, Chagall, Dali, Moore, Mondrian, Dekooning, Nevelson and others.

The production is a collaboration between Director Herbert Kline ("Walls of Fire"), Orson Wells ("Citizen Kane"), and Pierre Schneider, art critic for the New York Times and "L'Express."

Admission for Fine Arts Society members and students with valid ID is $2 and for non-members is $2.50.

There is no reserved seating and tickets are sold on day of screening only.

'Open House' Set By Publishers Of Press Authors

Joyce Press, publishers and booksellers of books by Jack Murphy, John Sinor, and Joe Stein, all columnists for Copley newspapers, and by Steve Barone, nom de plume of several talented Copley sportswriters, will be holding "Open House" Saturday and Sunday at its new facility at 7341 Clairemont Mesa blvd. — in Independence Square — just east of its intersection with I-805.

It is open to the public. All who made purchases will be given a 20 percent discount.

Murphy and Sinor will attend the grand opening party noon-4 both days. So will illustrators Chuck Beebe and Ralph Yoes.

Murphy recently wrote the popular selling book "Abe and Me". Sinor is author of three excellent sellers "Eleven Albatrosses in My Bluebird Tree", "Finsterhall of San Pasqual" and "Ghosts of Cabrillo Lighthouse".

The affair will also acquaint visitors with the forthcoming publication of "The White Shadow" by Max Evans. It is the story of San Diego Presidio's legendary white deer. Evans is author of best selling novel and movie "The Rounders".

For the Son of man is come to save that which was lost. How think ye? If a man have an hundred sheep, and one of them be gone astray, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray?
And if so be that he find it, verily I say unto you, he rejoiceth more of that sheep, than of the ninety and nine which went not astray. St. Matthew 18: 11-13

Historical Society Publishes Letters

The ink is still wet on the first editions of a collection of letters by an 1849 California Gold Rush pioneer, letters which may shed more light onto the saga of mother lode.

The book, Forturnes Are for the Few: Letters of a Forty-Niner, is currently being published by the San Diego Historical Society in a hardbound, 144 page, $12.50 volume.

The book is a result of the combined efforts of David J. Webber, a professor at Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, and Duane A. Smith, a professor at Fort Lewis College in Durango, Colorado.

Fortunes collects the letters of Charles William Churchill, an Ohioian who was lured to the California gold fields and by all indications was more successful in writing letters than finding gold.

Virtually all the letters were addressed to a brother, Mendal Churchill, who is chiefly responsible for their preservation.

Like his brother Charles, Mendal too came to California. The latter Churchill settled in at 1308 Orange avenue in San Diego.

Through a series of wills, the letters passed to the hands of Virginia M. Smith, who found the letters marked "Letters from my brother who died in Merced County, California in 1855".

The first books came off the presses Monday. The San Diego Historical Society, Serra Museum, Library and Tower Gallery in Presidio Park can secure copies. Their phone number is 297-3258.

Midsummer Feast Reservations Due

Reservations will close today for the California Ballet Association's Midsummer Night's Banquet and Revel to be held September 9 in Balboa Park.

The banquet preceeds the premier of "A Midsummer Night's Dream", a ballet performed by the California Ballet Company.

The Shakespearian classic will be presented in Balboa Park's Starlight Bowl on September 9 and 10 at 8:30 p.m.

Presiding over the activities will be the Baron Dean Hallford and Baroness Bonnie Hallford, of the Society for Creative Anachronism. They will be accompanied by their daring knights and fair ladies in authentic costume.

Honorary king and queen of the Revel will be San Diego's Chief of Police, William Kolender and his wife, Marilyn.

Events will include Midievel dancing among banners and tents, sword fighting, jesters and roaming minstels.

The 14th Century feast will consist of cornish hens, vegetables, salads with herbs, breads, fruits and peaches with spice wine.

Reservations may be placed with Birdie Coleman at 462-5827.

Record Tour of Gallery Now Available

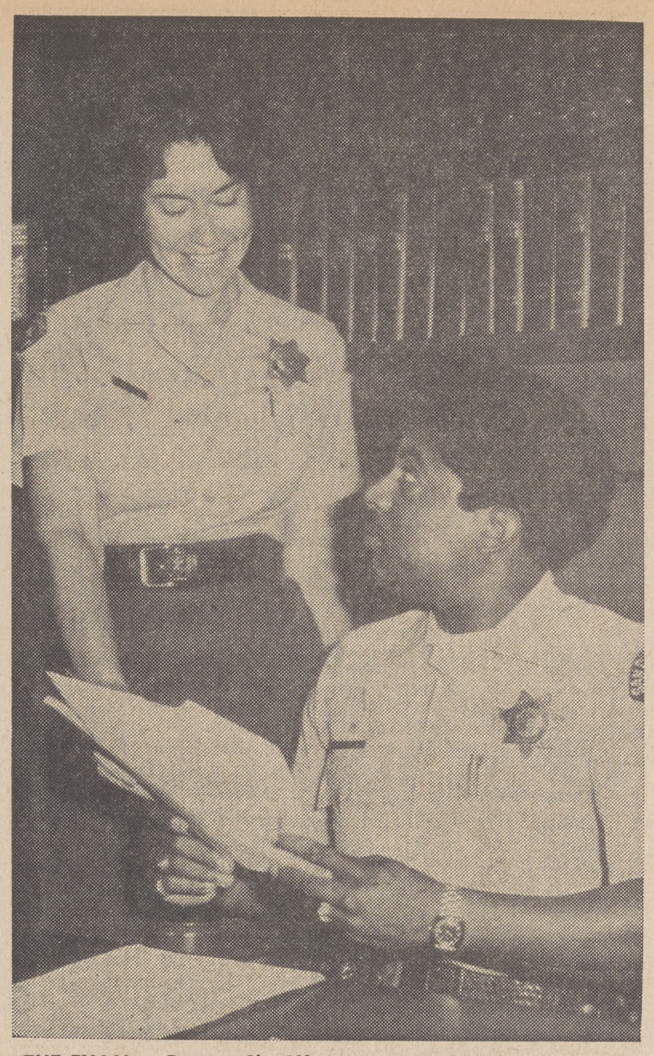
A new 45 minute recorded tour of the Fine Arts Gallery and its collection is now available to the general public.

The modern, self contained tour units allow individuals to proceed through the Gallery at their own pace as they listen to the commentary of Director Henry G. Gardiner.

Included in the recorded presentation, which is supplemented by appropriate period music, is an informative survey of the history of the Museum and comprehensive background to selected works in the collection.

The tour units are available at the information desk of the Fine Arts Gallery and may be rented for $1.00 by non-members. The units are free of charge to Fine Arts Gallery members.

The Gallery is open to the public free of charge Tuesday through Sunday 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m.



THE EXAM — Deputy Sheriffs Pippa Gonsalves and Sylvester Washington look over the exam to be given to prospective deputy sheriffs. The pair will screen minority and female candidates and are accepting applications today through September 12 at the County Personnel Dept., 1375 Pacific Highway.

Cost for admittance to the fashion show is five cans of food or $2.50.

Seminar to Aid Divorced Parents

A 10 week seminar on positive parenting for divorced parents will begin September 14.

The purpose of the seminar is to help single and remarried parents deal with the special problems they encounter after divorce in their relationships with their children, ex-spouse or new spouse.

The goal is to present concepts of positive parenting in such a way which challenges single and remarried parents to examine themselves and their new relationships with their children. Some of the topics to be discussed include: discipline, effective listening, parental openness, productive problem-solving, communication, and values classification.

The seminar is being sponsored by the San Diego Community colleges and will be taught by Dean Metzner, a counselor from the County Conciliation Court. The course is a joint effort on behalf of the County Conciliation Court and the Community Colleges to share in the responsibility of the welfare of children by assisting parents in their roles.

The class will be held from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Wednesday nights beginning September 14, at the Navajo Adult School, 6696 Wandermere dr. in San Diego. There is no charge for this class.

For pre-registration call 286-8040 or 236-2681.

Discotheque Offers Charm, Entertainment

Discotheque buffs will enjoy Rasputin's. After 2 months of dry-run, the dinner-dance club opened with a press show-off Monday night.

The discotheque element is run by Ron J. Jones, a talented entertainer who mixes the oldies with an occasional rock record. The decor is tastefully unique and the dance floor is adequate. The menu is in the middle cost range.

Terry Phillips, formerly with Houlihan's, is general manager. He is also manager of Villa Basque in La Mesa.

Rasputin's has 2 general managers — Jo DuVall and Rod Rifkin and the service indicates the management is doing a good job.

The club is at 4230 W. Point Loma blvd. in a small center called ohe French Quarter.

The operation is designed and owned by 3 lawyers who decided that they could do better spending their entertainment dollar at a place that best suited their styles. Their styles are good. The lawyers are Mike Thorsnes, Vince Barolotto and Vince Bujkousky.

Rasputin's is open noon and evenings. M.G.

The evening has been set aside to honor all Past Presidents and Past Advisors.

Mr. and Mrs. Arni Magnusson, Advisor and President will preside at the meeting, followed by games and/or cards.

Reservations may be made with Mr. and Mrs. James Heck or Mrs. Arni Magnusson, president.

All Past Matrons and Patrons are invited to attend.

Bloodmobile at G'mont

The San Diego Blood Bank Bloodmobile will be at Grossmont Hospital on September 29 from 1 to 5 p.m.

This Week's RECIPE

Apricot-Orange Refresher

Apricot-Orange Refresher starts with a package of apricot flavor gelatin to provide the taste of fresh apricot for year round enjoyment.

A complement to this dessert is Apricot-Pineapple Cubes with the same gelatin base. Pineapple chunks and gelatin cubes are nestled into beds of whipped topping.

APRICOT-ORANGE REFRESHER

1 package (3 oz.) apricot flavor gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup cold water
1 cup orange sherbet

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Measure one-half cup gelatin; add one-half cup cold water and chill until slightly thickened. Add orange sherbet to remaining gelatin.

Spoon into individual parfait glasses. Chill until set. Top with clear gelatin. Makes three cups or six servings.

Apricot-Pineapple Cubes

Drain one can (8 oz.) pineapple chunks in juice, reserving the juice. Add water to juice to make 3/4 cup.

Dissolve one package (3 oz.) apricot flavor gelatin in one cup boiling water. Add measured liquid. Pour into 9x5 inch loaf pan; chill until firm, about four hours.

Cut into cubes. Measure one cup thawed frozen whipped topping; spread in six individual glasses for form nests. Arrange cubes and pineapple in the nests. Makes 3 cups or 6 servings.

'Moulin Rouge' to be Shown

The 1952 Academy Award Winning production of "Moulin Rouge" will be presented in the James S. Copley Auditorium of the Fine Arts Gallery of San Diego on September 8, at 2:00 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Starring Jose Ferrar, Zsa Zsa Gabor and Colette Marchard, the film depicts the pathetic life and tragic death of Henry de Toulouse Lautrec.

The film was presented the 1952 Academy Awards for Best Art Direction, Best Set Decoration and Best Costume Design.

Admission for Fine Arts Society members and students with valid ID is $1.50 and for non-members, $2.00.

Tickets will be sold the day of the screening only. There will be no advance reservations.

Wildlife Films

A short, 13 minute color film, "Wildlife an American Heritage," reports on the number and variety of species while "Bighorn!", a 26 minute color film, traces the life history and ecology of a band of Bighorn sheep.

The films will be shown at 1:30 and 3 p.m. both Saturday and Sunday as part of a continuing documentary film program offered each weekend at the museum.

Museum admission is $1. Children under 16 are admitted free.

DUTCH CLEANERS

Tom Stein has been in the dry cleaning business since he was 15 years old. He and his wife Lorraine, his business partner, have owned and operated Dutch Cleaners at 7870 Broadway for over three years. Tom says his plant is now the largest dry cleaners in Lemon Grove and employs nine persons. The recent addition of some $25,000 worth of equipment makes the plant the first locally to meet proposed new EPA standards. Tom serves as an examiner for the state dry cleaners licensing board. He is also an officer of the San Diego County Dry Cleaners Association and a committee chairman for the state association. "We would welcome people who'd like to tour our facilities," he commented.

Padres Near End-of-Season In Eleven Game Homestand

The Padres will close out their next-to-last homestand for the 1977 season by hosting the Chicago Cubs and the National League Western Division leading Los Angeles Dodgers in five games beginning Friday.

The Padres will close their 11-game homestand against the two clubs and will be idle today prior to kicking off a three-game series with the Chicago Cubs which will run tomorrow through Sunday.

The opening two games of the series will start at 7 p.m. at San Diego Stadium with the Sunday finale slated for the usual 1 p.m. beginning.

Following the Cubs to town will be the Dodgers who are moving closer to clinching their first Western Division title since 1974. The Dodgers will be around for just a short two-game visit as they pay their final respects to San Diego Stadium for another year.

San Diego and Los Angeles are scheduled to meet in a Labor Day event at 7 p.m. Monday, and then close out the series and the homestand on Tuesday with a Business Special. That day's game will commence at 1 p.m. instead of the normal weekday starting time of 7 p.m. A fireworks display will follow the Labor Day game.

The Padres will immediately take to the road following the clash with the Dodgers as they will be off on a 3-city-7-game jaunt. The trip will open with two games at Houston on Wednesday and Thursday, September 7-8 and then wind down at Atlanta on September 9-10-11 and in Los Angeles on September 12-13.

The pair of meetings with the Dodgers will close out the series for the season between the two clubs, but the Padres still have final return engagements in San Diego against Atlanta and Houston later in September.

Once the Padres break from this current homestand, manager Alvin Dark's charges will have just 22 games remaining on the schedule with 10 at home and 12 on the road including the final five outings of the campaign.

"You get the feeling you are saying almost the same things week after week," Dark said in regard to the Padres fight for a finish in the first division in the National League West. "There just does not seem to be any gaps opening up btween ourselves, San Francisco and Houston. It looks like it will go right down to the very last days before it is definitely decided."

Griffin Workouts Target Joe Roth Memorial Game

Coach Dave Jordan and his 1977 Grossmont College football team entered their second week of preseason workouts this week in preparation for the Joe Roth Memorial Game, which will kick off this year's 10-game campaign Friday, September 9 in S.D. Stadium. Antelope Valley College of Lancaster will furnish the competition for the Griffins in the opener.

More than 100 athletes turned out for this year's Grossmont team, but the majority of the players are freshmen. But Jordan is optimistic about the 1977 season.

"On paper, we have excellent talent," said Jordan, who is beginning his seventh season at the Griffin helm. "But, we're going to be a young team. We'll probably have more freshman starters than we've ever had in the past."

Offense Gone

Graduation wiped out the entire Grossmont offensive backfield, which means Jordan must rebuild those key areas. Four yearlings are battling for the No. 1 quarterbacking job, including Aaron Graham, who gained Granite Hills High to the Grossmont League championship.

Heading up the Griffins' long list of running back hopefuls are El Capitan High graduate George Castro, the Grossmont League offensive back of the year in 1976, Mt. Miguel's Gregg Cole and ex-Granite Hills stars Mark Chrostowski and Ron Hill. Chrostowski and Hill sat out last season after graduating from high school in 1976.

Jordan will have more experience on his offensive line where guard Scot Buckles (5-11, 215), center John Nikos (6-2, 225) and tackle Jeff Johnston (6-2, 240) return. Buckles started all 10 games as a freshman, while Nikos was a part time starter.

Defense Promising

Defensively, the Griffins should be solid, especially up front where tackles Steve Moyer (6-7, 270) and Ken Sutton (6-5, 255) join forces with nose guard David James (6-1, 220). Robert Tomkiel, who hasn't played for two years, has impressed Jordan during the early workouts as a defensive end prospect. He's 6-1, 200.

Sophomore lettermen Gene Daoust (6-0, 185) and Kent Wood (5-11, 190) appear to be the best of this year's linebacking crew, while lettermen Dan Burt and Bruce Brouillard, and transfer Ronnie O'Bard appear to have starting jobs in the secondary. O'Bard, a graduate of Monte Vista High, played his freshman season at the University of Idaho.

Final plans for the Joe Roth Memorial Game, which is being played in honor of the late quarterback who played at Grossmont College during the 1973 and 1974 seasons, are being completed.

Y.A. Tittle Attends

Former National Football League quarterback Y. A. Tittle will be on hand to present the game ball to Mr. and Mrs. Leland Roth of Jerome, Idaho at halftime. The Roths will also receive a plaque containing all the names of the Griffins who played on Grossmont's undefeated California Community College championship team of which Joe Roth was a member. That presentation will be made by Marv Brown, who was the defensive captain of the 1974 team.

A special collection will be taken at halftime for the Joe Roth Melanoma Cancer Research Fund. All this money will be sent to the UC San Francisco Cancer Research Institute in Roth's name.

Motos to Return To Riverside

National championship motorcycle road racing will return to Riverside International Raceway the weekend of October 1st and 2nd with the staging of the second annual Riverside Superbike International, it was reported by the organizers, Trippe, Cox Assoc.

The 28th race in the 29-event Camel Pro Series, premiers professional racing circuit of the American Motorcyclist Assn., will provide Riverside fans with their first look at a road racing matchup among 1976 series champion Jay Springsteen of Flint, and his two principal adversaries Kenny Roberts of Turlock and Gary Scott of Springfield. Last year at Riverside Springsteen couldn't race, and Scott had to start at the back of the pack.

This $26,000 race will be the final Camel Pro Series event of six contested on road courses around the nation — from Daytona Beach, to Sears Point, Calif.

Riders will race on Riverside's famed 2.5 mile Grand Prix circuit, the same challenging eight-turn course used by drivers in the prestigious Calif. Grand Prix and the International Race of Champions.

Battling it out along with Springsteen, Roberts, Scott, Skip Aksland of Manteca, Ron Pierce of Bakersfield and Gene Romero, will be the factories themselves — Harley Davidson of the U. S., Yamaha, Suzuki and Kawasaki from Japan.

In addition to the AMA Camel Pro Series championship race, the weekend features two days of action that will include a 250cc lightweight race for experts and juniors, a 250cc novice road race, a production race for street bikes and the spectacular sidecars.

L.G. Rec. Assn. S'ball Standings

The strong teams are beginning to pull away and the weak ones are lagging behind as the Lemon Grove Rec. Assn. Softball League enters its 5th week.

In Men's play, Rainforest is unbeaten 4-0. Church of Christ, Over 30, Olive Gang, Berry's, Jokers, and LM Rv are all 3-1. Ballers are 2-1 and Hummer 1-2.

Grove Fighter Wins

Lemon Grove's light-heavyweight professional boxer, Gary Gahn, won a resounding 4-round split decision fight against Dave Farmer, Thursday night at the Silver Slipper in Las Vegas.

Gahn weighed 176 lbs. Farmer weighed in at 210. Gahn lives on Mt. Vernon st.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

You wouldn't be stretching the truth any if you said one tends to lead to the other. The San Diego Tribune junior golf tourney is being contested this week at Balboa Park while a number of former entrants are vying in the U.S. Amateur Golf Championship back at the difficult Aronimik Golf Club in Newton Square, Pa.

Scott Simpson and Doug Clarke are not too distant past winners of Tribune trophies and each has more than enough winning credentials to justify earning the 1977 Amateur crown.

Clarke will be entering Stanford University on a golf scholarship next month after running wild through San Diego Junior Golf since about the age of six.

He caused a national stir when he won the Trans-Mississippi men's title while just a sibling of 16 and is growing more prominent in national golf circles on an almost daily basis. Doug figures to play his way onto the next America's Walker Cup team.

And he'll be following a pretty nifty pair of golfing colleagues when he does. A couple of guys named Scott Simpson and Craig Stadler.

Stadler, a predecessor to Doug on the La Jolla High golf team, came out of San Diego junior ranks to earn All-American golf honors as a colleague at USC, won the U.S. Amateur title in '73 and played on the successful '75 Walker Cup team.

Stadler is currently making noises like a comer on the Pro golf tour and would surprise absolutely no one if he should win a tournament on this, his first full year on the PGA circuit.

Simpson is just a step away from the PGA tour after packaging a most impressive amateur career.

Scott rose through the San Diego junior golf program and paced Madison High to CIF honors before following Stadler to USC and the magic of Stan Wood's coaching generalship.

What followed reflects great credit to Wood's interest in San Diego Junior Golf products. Simpson won both the '75 and '76 Pac-8 golf title, and back to back NCAA crowns in '76 and '77. Along the way he took time out to win the prestigious Porter's Cup and title at Niagara Falls in the summer of '76.

Scott is a two time All-American and it should have come as no surprise when he was selected to the '77 Walker Cup team.

Simpson takes full advantage of his opportunities. He worked to something like a 3.6 grade point average in the tough business school at USC. And that's just the start of his being smart.

On Saturday, Aug. 20th, Scott married his high school sweetheart, the former Cheryl Lynn Roberts, and the happy couple used the Walker Cup and U.S. Amateur tournaments for a never-to-be-forgotten honeymoon.

One would guess that marriage agrees with Scott. He paced the American Walker Cuppers to a lopsided 16-8 victory over the British-Irish team with a come-from-behind 2-up opening match win over the best contestants the visiting club could muster.

Scott, with Cheryl walking each 18 with him, will enter the fall PGA qualifying school and could be earning his way in late fall professional play.

That's the stuff of dreams among most of the youngsters teeing up in this week's Tribune tourney. And more-than-likely, more than one youngster will climb that ladder to success, fame and fortune.

Who's next on the list? Are there more youngsters ready to come out swinging? You bet there are.

Billy Barrett of Spring Valley is a likely candidate. So is Jeff Hart of Solana Beach. And maybe a dozen more have the game and playing experience to "put it all together."

And it's tournaments like the San Diego Tribune than open the door and make those dreams possible. Now that's Community Service.

100 Laps of Racing Set for S.B. Track

With interest and excitement mounting each week, there should be a total of 45 entries Friday when the powerful super stocks and street stocks compete in a double-points Labor Day Special at South Bay Park Speedway 117's quarter-mile, dirt oval.

The supers, putting on one of their best races last week, will be tested in the longer 40-lap run while the streets will be asked to stretch out for 30 laps.

Trials for the super stocks begin at 7 with the first event set for 8:30 p.m. Promoter Don Basile said that with the trophy dashes and heats there will be 100 laps of action on the busy race track.

Meanwhile, Ken Snelling, the Bonita blitzer who has won five straight super stock features, continues his belated bid to overtake Spring Valley's John Cartwright for the 1977 South Bay Speedway title.

Last week, Snelling started in 10th spot in the 19-car feature, took over on the 20th lap and managed to hold off Jim Pavlick of Spring Valley by a half-length. Racetrackers said it was the best super stock main of the season with Glen Foreman, Baker and Pavlick all having a shot at the lead.

Also, fan participation night will return. A lucky person, drawing the right number, will be given a chance to compete in the street stock main. He'll be equipped with car, crew and a helmet free of charge.

Minnesota has 87 counties.

Shrine Football Game To Aid Crippled Kids

La Mesa resident William D. Myers has been named for the second year as co-chairman of the Al Bahr Shrine football game, scheduled October 22 in San Diego Stadium.

In announcing the appointment, Al Bahr Shrine Illustrious Potentate Glenn W. Corey said Jack W. Hudson will again join Myers as co-chairman of the 33rd grid event pitting S.D. State U. against the U. of Nevada at Las Vegas.

Myers said the evening's activities will include a 45-minute display of pageantry, with units and clubs of Al Bahr Temple and Zelzah Temple of Las Vegas appearing with their bands, drum corps and marching units.

In addition, contingents from area military bases plus bands from San Diego and Imperial county high schools will take part in pre-game festivities, scheduled to begin at 6:30 p.m. The game is set for 7:30.

A feature of half-time activities will be the traditional Shrine fireworks display as well as the introduction of a former patient at the Los Angeles Unit of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children.

The game slogan, "Where Strong Legs Run That Weak Legs May Walk." Myers said 100 percent of net proceeds or approximately 40 per cent of gross receipts go toward support of crippled children's hospitals. Last year's game produced some $60,000 for the hospitals.

Shriners operate 19 orthopedic hospitals in the United States, Canada and Mexico at an annual cost of more than $34 million. Also, Shriners maintain three burn institutes, located in Boston, Cincinnati and Houston.

Outdoors and Travel

For instance, this little country is one of the greatest fishing spots in the world. Even the name of this country verifies this fact. Panama, for your information, means "abundance of fish."

The first time I visited Panama I dutifully took the usual pictures of the big boats easing through the canal, but the sight which really inspired my interest was a six-foot tarpon being hoisted up for display in front of a Canal Zone fishing camp. Gatun Lake, the proud angler told me, was literally full of big tarpon and snook. This situation still exists today and is sufficient reason for any angler to pack his bags and go see what the Republicans and Democrats are squabbling about.

The Atlantic side of Panama offers the San Blas Islands which are famous for Cuna Indians and colorful "mola" handicraft. It also is a peaceful South Sea Island, just the sort of a place to relax and forget about 20th century innovations like income taxes and Howard Cosell.

But if you're a serious fisherman I suggest that you concentrate on the Pacific side of this country.

South of Panama City, in a little bay carved out of the Darien jungle, is a big game fishing camp which has made angling history since the day it was opened. This is the place to go if you're hankering to battle a 1000-pound black marlin or land an over-sized Pacific sailfish. The tab for a full week of fishing here is around $1550 which isn't too bad if you consider the high cost of living for everything else.

If you prefer to use lighter tackle there's an island fishing camp up the coast from the Panama capital which offers dawn to dusk fishing action for roosterfish, amberjack, big cubera snapper, and even billfish. A seven-day package here is priced at a little under $1000.

Panama is one of the most Americanized of all the Latin American countries. Entry regulations are negligible, currency is interchangeable, folks are friendly, and the place is easy to get to.

Coliseum Card Canceled; Next Program September 16

Headaches usually restricted to the confines of the ropes of the Coliseum's boxing ring were missing Friday night.

They had been transferred to management.

Promoter Danny Millsap cancelled the card after three gladiators of the undercard failed to pass the State Athletic Commission regulations.

A middleweight scrap between Terry Saunders and Eli Smith was scrubbed when the scales showed an 18-pound disparity between the two. Joey Amos, the commissioner's man cancelled the bout. Smith, a barroom-type fighter was on the card the week before as a light heavyweight

S.T. Gordon, who insists his first name is "S.T.", failed to bring proof of an eye examination from Los Angeles, his home, and that scratched him.

In all, 15 rounds of boxing was washed out. State law requires that a professional card must offer 26 rounds.

Millsap maintains that some determinations are arbitarary and allows nothing for professional judgment or discretion. It is probably the result of poor communication between the commission and the inspectors.

It cost the Coliseum approximately $1,000 to cancel the card. It left a great number of unhappy patrons who pay the bills for boxing and who pay for the care and upkeep of the state athletic commission.

The cancellation could have been spared if some latitude based on common sense were part of the commission's make-up.

The main bout, between Renato Garcia, lightweight champion of Chile and Andre Beard, the Black Panther of L.A. has been tentatively set for September 16.

No boxing program is presently scheduled until then. Professional wrestling continues every Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Colisum.

THE RACER'S EDGE — Cynthia Edwards, a waitress at Sam's Far East Restaurant in Lemon Grove, practices for the forthcoming Champagne Foot Race in downtown San Diego to be held September 12 at 10 a.m.
Sponsored by 10 Downing St. Restaurant and Walker-Scott, the event draws waiters and waitresses countywide who race around a city block with a filled glass of champagne on a tray. Prizes are awarded for fastest time provided no more than half the champagne is spilled.

State Aztecs Look Like Winners Is Coach Claude Gilbert's View

The final scrimmage of fall practice is on tap this week for the S.D. State U. football team as the Aztecs continue to prepare for the 1977 opener against Fullerton State on September 10.

The team will hold single workouts at 3 p.m. today and Friday, take Saturday and Sunday off and move into game week starting September 5.

State's Aztec Athletic Foundation will hold a Meet the Team Night tonight at 5:30 p.m. in Aztec Bowl after the scheduled practice session. Aztec players and coaches will attend the session.

Quarterback Joe Davis was the brightest spot of the two Aztec scrimmages last week. Davis completed 27 of 36 passes for 301 yards and four scores in two outings and had only one pass intercepted. He threw the ball crisply and with authority in both outings.

Freshman quarterback Mark Halda, who is battling Davis for the starting berth, was 14 of 33 for 193 yards and a score.

ON NATIONAL TV

TV 10 will picture the Aztecs on ABC's "Annual College Football Preview" tonight at 10.

Dennis Pearson was the leading receiver in last week's action with six catches for 93 yards. Tight end Don Warren had six catches for 90 yards while Ronnie Smith caught four for 60 yards and a score, and Donnie Glenn had four for 78 and two TD's. Smith and Glenn played only in Friday's scrimmage.

Starting running backs David Turner and Binky Benton were used sparingly. Turner had 18 carries for 75 yards and Benton gained 18 yards on eight tries.

Mike Hill, a JC transfer from Benton's old school Mt. SAC, had 19 carries for 74 yards and a score, sophomore Charlie Crews had 13 carries for 67 yards and a TD, JC transfer Phil DuBois from Cerritos had 44 yards on seven tries and freshman Tim Brown from Cleveland High School in Los Angeles had 57 yards on 23 carries and scored twice.

"I'm tremendously pleased . . . The team is very impressive," said Head coach Claude Gilbert.

"To this point in practice we've looked so good it's a little scary. I just hope we can sustain our efforts into the season."

Pat McIntyre of Spring Valley Is Cajon Track Champ—Again

But lest anyone think that little remains to be decided before the point season ends on September 24, no other driver in the top ten is secure in his position.

A double barrelled weekend of auto racing is set for Cajon Speedway Saturday and Sunday night. Saturday, the popular super stocks will return to the 3/8 mile paved oval in another eight-event card topped by the third 75-lap main event of the season.

Sunday night the U.S. Racing Club will swing back into action on the Gillespie Field oval.

It will be the second appearance of the season for the mighty Midgets, who last raced at Cajon on July 3rd. Danny McKnight of Alta Loma and Roy Cook Jr. of Redlands will be resuming their battle for the 1977 Southern California Midget title.

During the July race the two ran one-two in the 30-lap feature, with McKnight prevailing.

The midgets will hold a seven race card, topped by the 30-lap main event.

Race time both evenings will be 8:00 p.m. with time trials preceding at 6:30 p.m.

'Year's Best' Compete at Del Mar

A contender for "Horse of the Year" honors is Mrs. Connie Ring's Crystal Waters together with a sensational field of the best handicap horses in the west.

They'll clash on Monday, Labor Day in the 38th running of the $100,000 invitational Del Mar Handicap.

The Del Mar 'Cap, contested at the Crosby Course distance of 120 feet less than a mile and one-quarter on the main track, will highlight an exciting Labor Day holiday weekend of Thoroughbred racing which will include the estimated $100,000 Del Mar Debutante for two-year-old fillies on Sunday.

Crystal Water, an exceptionally talented California-bred son of Windy Sands, has demonstrated this year that he's a threat to three-time National champion Forego with brilliant victories in the Santa Anita Handicap, Californian and Hollywood Gold Cup while earning almost $500,000 this year. He set a track record of 1:59 1/5 for a mile and one-quarter in the Santa Anita Handicap and preceded that with a world's record-equalling 1:45 2/5 effort for nine furlongs on the grass.

Expected to oppose Crystal Water in the Del Mar Handicap are B.J. Ridder's Cascapedia, beaten a nose by Crystal Water in the Hollywood Gold Cup and winner of the Vanity Handicap; Kirkland's Ancient Title, richest California-bred horse of all time with earnings of $1.1 million; Elmendorf's Pay Tribute, hero of the '76 Hollywood Gold Cup, and Silver Creek Ranch's vastly-improved Painted Wagon, victor in the Citation Handicap at Hollywood.

Sunday's one-mile Del Mar Debutante, championship race of the summer for juvenile fillies, will bring out My Little Maggie, game winner of the Sorrento Stakes; Short Stanza, a lightly-raced but swift filly; Extravagant, nosed out by My Little Maggie in the Sorrento, and Illustrious Girl, successful in the Junior Miss Stakes this season.

In Playoffs?

2 Games Left For Breakers

Playoff fever is at its peak for the San Diego Breakers.

Only two games, both at the Sports Arena, remain on the Breakers' regular season schedule.

Friday at 8, the Breakers close out their regular IVA slate by hosting Orange County. The Orange County Stars feature Dodge Parker, who was the setter on San Diego's IVA championship team in 1976.

Currently, San Diego, Orange County and Santa Barbara are in a neck-and-neck race in the IVA's Western Division. The division's first place team will host its second place team either September 6 or 7 in semi-final playoff action.

The third IVA championship is slated for either September 9 or 10, depending upon arena availability in the host city.

It probably will be on the last night of the season before the playoff teams are decided. Right now, with only two games left and Santa Barbara and San Diego are separated by only a few percentage points.

The playoff format is for the first two teams of each division playing in the first round. The winners then meet for the league title.

Softball Marathon To Aid M.D. Campaign

A softball marathon Sunday at the Presidio playground on Taylor st. in San Diego will aid the Muscular Dystrophy campaign.

In it, Danny Millsap, a softball pitcher of renown, will attempt to pitch 27 innings against celebrities of all types. Invitations have been sent to print, radio and tv personalities to take part.

Anyone may bat against Millsap but it will require a dollar donation to MD. Batter, hit or not, wins a slurpee from 7-11 Stores. For a double the batter wins a taco from the nearby Tamale Factory. Las Vegas Sliver Slipper adds 50 cents for MD on a triple and Millsap adds $1 on a homer.

Play starts at noon.

San Diego Ripoff

Because of many clear days every year, Souh Dakota became known as the Sunshine State.

Rams Host Chargers Tonight in Los Angeles

It's Homecoming Week for many members of the San Diego Chargers' organization.

The Chargers play the Los Angeles Rams tonight at 7:30 in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum with the California Lt. Governor's Trophy going to the winning team.

Chargers coach Tommy Prothro was the Rams' coach in 1971-72. General manager Johnny Sanders and assistant general manager Tank Younger were members of the Rams' front office for many years.

Players Pat Curran, Bob Klein, Leroy Jones, and James Harris came to the Chargers in trades with the Rams.

Prothro, Sanders, and Younger played a large part in the assembling of the present Rams team.

Prothro led the Rams to a 14-12-2 record in the two seasons in which he was head coach and was responsible for the Rams' drafting of such standout players as linebacker Isiah Robertson, defensive end Jack Youngblood, safety Dave Elmendorf, running backs Lawrence McCutcheon, and Jim Bertelsen, defensive tackle Larry Brooks and trading for defensive end Fred Dryer and tackle John Williams.

Prothro also was instrumental in the signing of Harris as a free agent in 1972 after Harris had been waived by Buffalo and was out of pro football.

The Rams won 20 of the 26 games that Harris started as their quarterback from 1974-76.

Looking Back

The Rams and Chargers have not met in the preseason since 1974, when Los Angeles scored a 30-16 victory in San Diego in Prothro's fifth game as Chargers coach. The Rams took the Chargers into a sudden death overtime in the fifth game of the 1975 regular season and came out with a 13-10 victory in the teams' last meeting.

The Chargers have met the Rams eight times in the Lt. Governor's Cup game, the Rams leading the series 5-3. The teams' only regular-season meeting was in 1975.

The Chargers are 2-2 in the 1977 preseason after last week's 35-7 loss at Oakland. Los Angeles is 1-3, losing to Kansas City 27-19 last week.

Chargers-Rams game will be on KSDO (1130) at 7:30 p.m. preceded by the Tommy Prothro Show at 7:05 and by Pat Curran's NFL Weekend and Chargers Talk.

The game will be televised live on Channel 6.

Super Grudge Pro Wrestling Bout on Tap

A super grudge professional wrestling match is scheduled for Tuesday at the S.D. Coliseum, 15th and E sts., S.D.

Puerto Rico's Victor Rivera meets Big Bad John. There is a grudge because each split the skull of the other in the match earlier this week. That's enough to antagonize any wrestler. It may be bloody again next week.

In another bout Tom Jones, black gladiator, has put up $2,000 of his own money in his scrap with Victor Gordman, a masked wrestler. If Jones loses, Gordman gets the money. If Jones wins, Gordman removes his mask for the first time.

Hockey Returns To S.D. Arena September 15

Peter Graham, president of the San Diego Sports Arena, along with California sports entrepeneur Dennis Murphy and former San Diego Mariner coach Ron Ingram, jointly announced formation of the new Pacific Hockey League with the awarding of franchises in four California cities —San Diego, Long Beach, San Francisco and Oakland.

Jerry Saperstein of S. Florida, former owner of the fabled Harlem Globetrotters, will head up the San Francisco franchise.

A group headed by Long Beach attorney Don Dyer will put a team in the Long Beach Arena while the Oakland franchise will be spearheaded by businessman Len Shapiro, Howard McCormick and Joseph Bronson. Graham will be the sole owner in San Diego.

The league, to be largely comprised of young professionals with a heavy emphasis on American-born talent, will start play November 15 with each club playing a 60-game schedule. 30 at home; 30 away.

The owners held a free agent player draft Tuesday and will meet again in three weeks for an amateur draft.

James W. Browitt of Indianapolis, former executive director and vice-president of WHA, will serve at the league's commissioner. Walt Marlow, Santa Ana, who also served in the WHA, will be Public Relations director. Director of player personnel will be Chuck Catto of Montreal, formerly with the Boston Bruins, California Seals and St. Louis Blues of the NHL.

Graham said the new league requires that only 8 of each team's 18 players may be over 25 years of age.

He also said that 2,500 seats at $2.50 ($2 for children) would be available each game, at the east end of the Arena on a "crash" basis. "We're reverting to 1930 prices," he said.

Seats will be from ice level to the balcony. Other seats will be $5 and $6.

USD Schedules Grid Preview

The 1977 U of SD football team will take part in their annual Football Preview Day Saturday at the USD stadium, off Linda Vista rd.

A photo session will be 11-noon. An intra-squad scrimmage is scheduled for 2 p.m.

ed with the dole (welfare) system. "There are too many bums on relief," they say.

"Taxes are extremely progressive. The rate is about 80% on an income of $20,000," he said.

People are also disgusted with labor disputes and strikes. Air controllers were on strike while he was there. Leland Motors, Lucas Manufacturing (electric components for autos), bakery workers and icemen had announced strikes as he left. Ice is important for fishing boats where it is used for packing the catch which supplies a great proportion of the national food supply.

Strikes Grow Common

"Strikes are common and people grouse a lot about them," he said.

The Dorman family spent a week in Scotland where people are extremely friendly and trusting. Some small shops are often unattended and the owners leave a box in which purchasers drop the money for the things they buy. Everything was in green splendor and the heavily wooded highlands were reminiscent of the high sierra.

Prices at markets and at restaurants are about the same as in Lemon Grove, Dorman said. "But you must remember that the British standard of living is much lower and that makes it tough on Britishers.

Gasoline is high. "We paid $1.50 a gallon but the price dropped 5 cents as I left. I'm not certain why."

Mrs. Dorman and the couple's youngsters are staying on until school starts in Lemon Grove.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. L. Bennett live at No. 8 Oliver st. in Cleethorpes. Her sister, Mrs. J. Dacombe lives at 15 Oliver st. which makes relative visiting simple.

Mayor Dorman first met Jennifer Bennett after she came to the United States and became an air hostess for PSA.

Canal Rally Slated

A "Keep the Canal" rally is scheduled for Friday noon at the Federal bldg., 1800 Front st., San Diego, according to Armin Moths, official of the U.S. Taxpayers' Assn.

Moths, of El Cajon, said that all interested persons are invited to take part. There will be civic, military and political speakers at the rally, he said.

CentFed Loans Rise 33% for a Record

Central Federal Savings and Loan Assn., with a local office in College Grove, reports record loan volume of $179 million during the first six months of 1977.

Association senior vice president-loan division manager Karl Dege said the value of loans issued from Jan. 1 to June 30 this year was more than one-third above the $133 million total for the same period in 1976. Central Federal loans outstanding at mid-year were $710 million.

In addition, the S&L's savings deposits increased by $47 million during the first half of this year to a total of $611 million on June 30, with total Central Federal assets now $783 million.

Central Federal acquired the 9 offices of N. Hollywood Federal in the San Fernando Valley last year and now has a total of 24 offices in S. California.

Unsecured Tax Deadline Nears

More than 13,000 owners of personal and business property in the county received reminders from the tax collector last week that penalties will be added to unsecured property tax bills not paid by August 31.

Tax Collector James E. Jones said nearly 49,000 bills had been paid since mailings began in April to persons who own business property, airplanes, boats, and interests in leased property.

The tax collector cautioned that the six percent penalty which goes on unpaid accounts at midnight, August 31, amount to six percent of the unpaid bill and is not prorated on a per annum basis.

After October 31, an additional penalty of one percent will be added each month to unpaid accounts.

Unsecured tax bills differ from secured tax bills in that the taxes are charged to the persons who owned the property on the first day of March each year and are not secured by liens on the property itself, according to the tax collector.

Tax bills may be paid at the collector's office in the County Administration Center. Mailed payments must be postmarked before midnight of the deadline date to avoid penalty.

FedFund Health Group OKs Two-County Pact

7 counties and 3 agencies joined efforts earlier to assure better health care services and facilities in the future for residents of San Diego and Imperial Counties.

At the Board of Directors meeting on Monday August 15, the Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO) became the final signator to a three-party "Memorandum of Agreement" with the Health Systems Agency of San Diego and Imperial Counties (HSA), and the S.C. Assn. of Governments (SCAG) in Los Angeles.

The SCAG Executive Committee approved and signed the agreement earlier. The HSA governing body reviewed and signed the agreement last month.

CPO will represent San Diego County in the agreement, and SCAG (which includes six counties) will represent Imperial County.

According to CPO Board Chairwoman Lorraine Boyce, the new HSA - CPPO - SCAG agreement will permit a number of cooperative actions between the participating agencies.

Among these are: 1) joint use of a common data base, also available to other interested planning groups; 2) participation in a joint review of proposed health projects for the two-county region; 3) coordination of long-range regional planning efforts; 4) joint representation on appropriate health related committees and task forces; and 5) direct involvement and exchange of information on the part of staff members of the three planning agencies.

Boyce, a graduate nurse, serves as the first chairperson of the five-member Governing Board of HSA.

The Governing Body includes 30 members: 16 laymen or "consumers" of health services; and 14 professionals or "providers" of services and facilities.

Dr. Richard Peters serves as president of the HSA Governing Body. He is head of the Division of Thoracic Surgery at U of C School of Medicine in San Diego.

Under provisions of the National Health Planning Act, the Health Systems Agency will be responsible for the following activities:

- Improving the health of residents of the region (San Diego-Imperial Counties);
- Increasing the accessibility, acceptability and continuity of health services;
- Restraining increases in the cost of providing health services;
- Preventing unnecessary duplication of health resources (services and facilities);
- Improving the quality of health care services.

As a single purpose planning agency receiving federal funding, the HSA is required by federal law to establish a Memorandum of Agreement with appropriate local planning agencies for A-95 review.

By federal executive order, the A-95 areawide clearinghouse function provides for the regional review and coordination of federally funded planning and capital improvement programs and projects.

Both CPO and SCAG, recognized as "local councils of government", fulfill this requirement to act as clearinghouse and are required to be parties to the actions.

IRS Offers Two Books On Fed. Tax Audits

LOS ANGELES — Taxpayers who are currently undergoing an audit of their Federal tax return and those who wish to be prepared for one will find some valuable information on their rights and responsibilities in two free booklets from the Internal Revenue Service.

Publication 55 , "Audit of Returns, Appeal Rights, and Claims for Refund," discusses IRS audit procedures and the avenues of appeal open to taxpayers who disagree with an examiner's findings. It is also available in Spanish (Publication 556S).

Publication 552, "Recordkeeping Requirements and a Guide to Tax Publications," is an English-language booklet which explains the requirements and benefits of keeping good records. It also describes some recordkeeping methods for both individuals and businesses and provides a list of IRS publications.

Both Publications 556 and 552 may be obtained by calling the IRS' forms-ordering telephone lines. From Area Code 213, the number is 572-7814. From Area Codes 714 and 805, taxpayers should call 1-800-242-4585 or 1-800-242-4586.

Zoning Complaint

August 24, 1977

Dear Editor:

A copy of this letter has been sent to the County Board of Supervisors.

This letter is to protest downgrading zoning Troy st.

I have for years been a member of the Valle de Oro Executive Committee, and before that the Valle de Oro Planning Assn. I resent their efforts to cut the value of people's property.

I have not attended recent Executive Committee sessions because I feel that we had accomplished our job — when we made up our goals and approved the zoning of the Valle de Oro area. We had a vote whether to disband or not. I voted to disband. I was outvoted. It seems that many of the "no growth" group on the Committee want to keep some control.

We did not know that the Zone Plan had downgraded the zoning on Grand ave. and Troy st. We had had a battle to prevent this happening to people on Bancroft st.—but the vote determined that we should not downgrade the zoning from C to Apartment zone. I thought most of the members felt that it was not fair to take values from private property owners. Evidently this attattitude has changed.

I have no property nor interests on Grand ave. nor Troy st. — but as a philosophical principle and as a protection to private property rights — I oppose telling people that their values have been taken away by downzoning. It is like "exappropriation". This is morally wrong.

I appeal on the basis of moral principles and business judgement.

Lemon Grove Man Makes Mark

Peace Corps Volunteer Not an Easy Occupation

Peace Corps volunteer John E. Earhart of Lemon Grove says he has nothing against deserts except that they are tough places to grow corn.

According to the Southern California Peace Corps office in Los Angeles, Earhart, 23, an environmental resources graduate of California State University, Sacramento, serves as a resource conservationist in Santa Apolonia, Guatemala.

Santa Apolonia, a little town of 440, and its surrounding areas in the Central American nation's Altiplano, or highlands, are by no means a desert. But they could be, the volunteer warns, if farmers do not adopt conservation and reforestation measures.

If conservation is not taken seriously, says the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Earhart, "Guatemala may find itself a dry, flat, unproductive desert before they realize it. It's not that I have anything against the desert, but it's a little tough to grow corn in."

Earhart, of 2534 Crestline drive, Lemon Grove, has been working since 1975 to encourage the area's low-income Indian farmers to apply conservation and reforestation practices so that their land will remain fertile and productive for generations to come.

To accomplish such a long-term goal, Earhart and his Guatemalan counterpart, or co-worker, are participating in several agricultural projects. They set out 20,135 coniferous trees last year, Earhart says, and this year will plant 30,000.

"We have set up more than 100 acres with new conservation practices of filtration ditches, terraces, contour plowing, compost piles and the introduction of legumes as nitrogen fixers," notes.

His job is "a difficult task, to say the least," he says, because the farmers themselves may never see the benefits of conservation measures. So Earhart must play the role of an advocate to make the man aware that their work now will be felt later by their children and grandchildren.

Earhart's Guatemalan counterpart has become his best friend. "We are together almost daily. We walk to the nearby townlets to give courses, plant trees, and work with our conservation program. On Saturday we go cut firewood, maybe go to the capital for a milkshake, and on Sunday we're together on the soccer field, playing on the same team.

"He is my eyes, ears and nose to the pueblo, and through him I have been able to not only get work done, but to incorporate myself into a very small and conservative community, and I love it here."

Things have not all gone smoothly, however. The town was totally destroyed in the early morning earthquake which devastated much of Guatemala on Feb. 4, 1976.

"At that time I lived in a small adobe house that was completely destroyed in the quake," Earhart recalls. "I was saved from becoming another statistic by a small group of rats that had awakened me a few minutes before the 3 a.m. shaking began, enabling me to protect myself from the falling adobe walls and roof.

"For more than six months after that we worked exclusively on emergencies and reconstruction."

The weather was hot, dry and dusty through most of the rebuilding period, and Earhart lived in tents until he was forced indoors by the start of the cold, muddy six-month rainy season of the Altiplano.

He now lives with two American priests, but to a certain extent tries to simulate the lives of the villagers in work, play and existence, he says.

"We eat what most others in the area eat — tortillas, chile, vegetables, meat, bread —and we drink cuxa, a homemade bran whiskey which my town is famous for."

Getting along in a Latin American culture has not proved too difficult for Earhart, who says that aside from exercising patience, the most important thing is to remember that he is a guest in Guatemala.

"I gained confidence with the people by observing and simulating their activities, but always with some limitations," he notes.

Whatever limitations there may be, language is no longer one of them.

In his daily life, Earhart uses three languages. He speaks mostly Spanish, which he learned during Peace Corps training in Guatemala, some English, and "a little" of the native Indian language, Cachiquel, one of 18 local dialects spoken by the descendants of Maya Indians who make up almost half of Guatemala's population.

Reflecting on experiences ranging from heading an emergency relief caravan after the earthquake to being selected to the State of Chimaltenango all-star soccer team, Earhart says, "it has been fantastic. At times I am ready to leave the country and others I'll be here all my life." He is considering an extension of his two-year term of service which ends in September.

"I can't pinpoint one experience as the most rewarding," he says. "For the last two years I have been learning and experiencing as never before in my life, yet at the same time have been able to accomplish what I consider a lot, and have been teaching.

"It's sort of the best of two worlds."

Earhart is one of 150 Peace Corps volunteers now serving in Guatemala. Around the world, more than 6,200 Americans are taking part in Peace Corps programs in 62 developing nations.

The Peace Corps is part of ACTION, the federal agency for volunteer service established in July, 1971 to administer volunteer programs at home and overseas. Sam Brown is the director of ACTION.

ACTION's domestic programs include Volunteers in Srvice to America (VISTA), Foster Grandparent Program and the Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP) — all active projects in San Diego County.

San Diego area persons interested in Peace Corps programs can call 800-352-6503 toll free in Southern California.

SDSU Rehab Center Gets $21,000 Grant

The Federal Rehabilitation Services Adm., through the State Department of Rehabilitation, has granted nearly $21,000 to the SDSU Foundation's Rehabilitation Center for handicapped persons.

The announcement was made this week by State Sen. James R. Mills.

Center officials said the grant will pay for automating entries and exits from the center at 4033 Ruffin rd., San Diego, improving restroom facilities and purchasing and modifying a second van used by the center to transport handicapped individuals.

The grant is consistent with federal rehabilitation law which calls for expansion of services to the handicapped.

The center serves about 450 persons annually who have severe physical, developmental and emotional handicaps.

School Attendance May Drop in '77

SACRAMENTO— A total of 4,155,700 pupils and 206,500 teachers — nearly one-quarter of California's total population — will answer the public school bell this fall as the annual summer vacation ends.

Wilson Riles, state superintendent of public instruction, says the new enrollment figure represents a decrease of approximately 79,800 pupils from the 1976-77 school year. It also represents the first time in 30 years that secondary school enrollment has declined.

These figures, which do not include enrollment in education for the handicapped and in adult education program, are projections for the 1977-78 school year released by the California State Department of Education.

Additional statistics from the department show that:

- Enrollment in kindergarten this year will be about 279,600, compared to 308,853 last year—a decrease of 29,253.
- Enrollment in grades 1-8 will be about 2,525,300, compared to 2,573,773 last year—a decrease of 48,473.
- Enrollment in grades 9-12 will be about 1,350,800, compared to 1,352,899 last year—a decrease of 2,099.

"The overall decrease in total enrollment in kindergarten through the 12th grade represents a drastic change from the staggering growth of the 1960s," Riles said. "In 1965, for example, California's schools welcomed 225,000 new pupils —an increase greater than the total population in 13 states."

Bank Reports Housing Starts Increase 10%

LOS ANGELES — New housing starts in California during June increased at an annual rate of 252,000 units, up 10 per rent from 229,000 units started in May, Bank of America reported recently.

The June rate also was up 25 per cent from June of last year.

Bank economists said they expect the rate of new starts to continue in the 250,000 to 275,000 units range for the second half of the year.

Actual housing starts in the state for the first six months of the year were up 48 per cent to 133,606 from 90,086 in the same period last year.

Single-family dwellings accounted for 88,152 or two-thirds of the new total, and were up 49 per cent from last year's 58,976 single-family starts.

Change Planned In 'C' Business Zoning Ordinance

The San Diego County Board of Supervisors will hold a public hearing September 7 on a proposed amendment to the County Zoning Ordinance. The hearing will be at 10 a.m. in Room 358 of the County Administration Center, 1600 Pacific Highway.

The proposed amendment would permit the storage of recreational vehicles and boats in the C Business zone provided that the storage area is paved and enclosed by a view-obstructing fence or wall no less than six feet in height.

The County Planning Commission may require, where appropriate, a fence or well greater than six feet in height. Improvements shall comply with requirements as specified in Section 472 of the Zoning Ordinance relative to paving and lighting.

The C Business Zone includes motels, offices and retail business conducted inside buildings, some outside use with special use permits and signs pertaining to such offices and business.

All uses permitted in the R-4 one are affected except mobilehome parks and trailer courts. There is no minimum lot or building site area requirement for business uses. Multiple dwellings as a principal use require a special use permit.

Copies of the proposed amendment are available for inspection in Room 306 of the County Administration Center or the County's Department of LUER, Room 203, 9150 Chesapeake dr., S.D.

Telephone contact is Lucy Woodward, 565-5441.

Mount Miguel HS Registration to Start Wednesday

Students registering at Mount Miguel High School next week will get a little more than classes. They may find themselves walking away with a little ESP.

ESP, or Early September Programming as this year's registratiion has been tagged, begins 7:30 a.m. Wednesday in the Mount Miguel gym.

Topping the process, students will receive a packet in the mail which contains registration procedure and materials plus a priority number.

Students then come to Mount Miguel gym at a pre-designated time, either on Wednesday or Thursday.

First in the line of many events is picture taking. Identification pictures as well as portraits used in the Mount Miguel yearbook of students will be taken.

Next up during the three hour process is the actual enrollment into classes.

The student then continues to a table where lockers are issued. Also at this table, ASB cards and school insurance may be purchased.

At the end of the line identification cards are issued along with a student handbook.

One of the features of Early September Programming, according to Lois Nossaman, the new principal of Mount Miguel, the students can meet with the teachers to ask questions about the class before enrolling. Also, students leave the gym knowing in what classes they are enrolled.

Seniors begin registration at 7:30 a.m. Wednesday, followed by Juniors at 10 a.m. On Thursday, Sophomores register at 7:30 a.m. until 9:45.

Incoming Freshmen go through an orientation program and follow with a registration from 12 noon to 2:30 p.m.

Geller, Buckley Top List of Speakers at S.D. City College

Kicking off San Diego City College's 1977-78 "Issues Forum" will be controversial psychic and telepathist Uri Geller.

Geller, the psychic who bends metal by thinking, will appear in the Fox Theatre, 820 B street, on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $2.

Other speakers invited to San Diego include.

William F. Buckley, Jr., the conservative editor, columnist, and author. Buckley will speak September 14 on "Some of the Problems of Freedom".

Captain James Lovell, former Apollo 13 astronaut, will speak December 7 at 7:30 p.m. in the Fox Theatre. His speech is titled "Twice to the Moon and Back".

Hans Morgenthau, legendary historian and political scientist, will speak on Soviet-U. S. Relations on March 8.

Following Morgenthau on April 5 will be national pollster George Gallup. Gallup will speak on the topic "Is There a Conservative Tide in America?".

Except for Geller and Buckley, admission for the programs is free. Many will be held in the Ballroom of the House of Hospitality in Balboa Park. The San Diego City College phone number is 233-4442.

Hauler Loses TVs

While the personnel of U-Haul was moving items from other locations to the new address at 1805 Massachusetts ave., Lemon Grove on August 9, it was discovered that two new SONY TVs were missing.

Robert G. Sharp, firm president, said the two devices were worth $1,600. He said the firm employs about 25 and all had access to the new location.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING LEMON GROVE CITY COUNCIL NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT THE CITY COUNCIL OF LEMON GROVE WILL HOLD A PUBLIC HEARING ON THE FOLLOWING IN THE COUNCIL CHAMBERS, 8025 LINCOLN STREET, LEMON GROVE, at 7:30 p.m., Monday, September 19, 1977.
SUBJECT: PROPOSED ZONE RECLASSIFICATION FROM R-2-A (Residential) Zone to the R-1-A (Residential Zone.
CASE REFERENCE: R77-23
This hearing will be held pursuant to the application of CREASER & WARWICK, INC., on a proposal to reclassify all or part of the hereinafter described property in Lemon Grove from the R-2-A (Residential) Zone to the R-1-A (Residential) Zone, or a more restrictive zone in accordance with The Zoning Ordinance of the City of Lemon Grove.
Said property comprises an area of about 6.8 acres and is located on the east side of McKnight Drive and north of San Pasqual Street, approximately 400 feet east of Massachusetts Avenue. The property encompasses the same area as a proposed 24-lot single-family residential subdivision (Berryland Estates — T.M. 3601) which was previously approved by the San Diego County Planning Commission. The proposed zone change will bring the Lemon Grove City Plan, the proposed Subdivision and the zoning in conformance with each other.
ENVIRONMENTAL STATUS: Negative Declaration on file for review (the project will not have a significant adverse effect upon the environment).
If you wish to obtain advice on how to organize your presentation for this hearing, you may contact the Office of the Citizen Assistance Officer at the County Administration Center, Phone 236-2742. (If long distance, call collect)
At subject hearing any interested party may appear and be heard.
ADDITIONAL INFORMATION:
If you have questions about the proposal or wish to discuss the project with staff of the Department of Land Use and Environmental Regulation prior to the hearing, you may contact Gerry Hermanson at 9150 Chesapeake Road, San Diego Calif. 92123 phone 565-5570.

TENTATIVE SUBDIVISION MAP: T.M. 3619
SUBDIVISION NAME: LEMON GROVE SQUARE
TYPE OF DEVELOPMENT PROPOSED: Commercial Subdivision
OWNER / DEVELOPER: Barrett, Hibbard and Company
ENGINEER: Arevalo and Safino, Inc.
LOCATION: Southwest corner of the intersection of Broadway Avenue and Massachusetts Avenue in Lemon Grove.
TOTAL AREA: 4.48 acres
NUMBER OF COMMERCIAL STRUCTURES: 5
NUMBER OF LOTS: 5
EXISTING ZONING: C and C-2
PROPOSED ZONING: no change
The purpose of this notice is to give property owners in the vicinity of the proposed development and other interested parties an opportunity to be informed of the proposal prior to action by the City Council. The council, when approving the proposed subdivision, specifies certain conditions which must be met in the construction of the subdivision. The Council may under certain circumstances disapprove a subdivision proposal.
This is an existing commercial complex. The subdivision proposal will create 5 lots covering three existing structures and two new proposed buildings. The San Diego County Planning Commission on June 17, 1977, took action to refer this proposal to the City of Lemon Grove.
ENVIRONMENTAL STATUS: Negative Declaration on file for review (the project will not have a significant adverse effect upon the environment).
If you wish to obtain advice on how to organize your presentation for this hearing, you may contact the Office of the Citizen Planning Advisor at the County Administration Center, phone 236-2742.

The Biggest Business—California's Schools

SACRAMENTO—Public Education in California is a huge enterprise — the biggest business in the state.

It is so big, in fact, that it involves more children than there are people in 34 states.

Donald R. McKinley, chief deputy state superientendent of public instruction, said in a recent interview that nearly one-fourth of the state's population is engaged full time in public schooling— as students, teachers, support staff or administrators.

"It's a multi-billion dollar activity that has some kind of impact on every person in the state," McKinley pointed out. "It cost $6.5 billion last year in operating costs alone to provide public schooling for 4.15 million children in kindergarten through grade 12.

"That's about $1,400 per pupil," he added.

Largest Boss

Public schooling is the single largest employer in the state.

The state's 1,042 local school districts employ approximately 206,500 teachers and pay them an average annual salary of $16,000, McKinley said.

In all, 364,000 people manage and operate California's 7,045 public schools.

More than 1.4 million (31 per cent) of California's school enrollment is from racial and ethnic minority groups.

One million (22 per cent) are from families with annual incomes below the federally established poverty level of $5,400 (non-farm family of four).

An estimated 500,000 pupils are mentally or physically handcapped. And 300,000 do not speak English or have limited English-speaking ability.

Largest Bills

"Large size means large expenditures," McKinley said. "Even small improvements are costly in a state as big as ours." Results of recent California State Department of Education studies illustrate his point:

- To reduce the average class size in California by one pupil would cost approximately $120 million more annually. To reduce the average class size by five pupils would cost and additional $800 million annually.
- To provide a 7 per cent annual inflation allowance would cost $490 million.
- To provide each full-time teacher with 60 cents per day for more learning materials would cost $20 million.

Department studies also pinpoint three current trends of significance at the local district level.

They concern parent participation in school efforts, summer school and breakfast and lunch programs.

Parent participation has been increasing dramatically in recent years as a result of reform and restructuring programs initiated by the department.

Figures compiled by the department show that 81,505 adult volunteers contributed 351,000 hours per week in assistance to California's schools in 1975-76 — an average of 4.3 hours per week per volunteer.

Seventy-six per cent of these volunteers (61,944 persons participated in Early Childhood Education (ECE) schools, while 24 per cent worked in schools funded by state or federal compensatory education funds.

In 1973-74, the first year of ECE, 23,000 parent volunteers participated in ECE school program. However, as ECE expanded, the number of participating parents expanded.

A similar trend has resulted from implementation of the Master Plan for Special Education, another department-initiated reform.

Parent involvement increased 200 per cent between 1974-75 and 1975-76 in the districts participating in this new program for handicapped children.

Department statistics show that summer school is becoming more popular.

At the elementary school level, the number of children enrolled in summer school was 841,118 in 1976, compared to 738,114 two years earlier—an increase from about one enrollment is decreasing slightly, McKinley said.

In 1975, enrollment in private elementary - secondary schools was 421,647; in 1973, it was 411,835.

Only slight changes are occurring in class size, McKinley concluded. He noted that the average class size in grades 1 through 3 increased in in 1975-76 to 27.5 from 27.2 in 1974-75.

During the same period, average class size in grades 4-8 decreased from 27.1 to 27, the lowest reported during the past seven years.

The statistics cited by McKinley are included in two new reports published by the California State Department of Education — Beyond Serrano: Paying for California's Public Schools and Selected Statistics, 1975-76.

A limited number of copies of Beyond Serrano are available at no cost; copies of Selected Statistics may be obtained for 65 cents each, plus 6 per cent sales tax for California residents, from Publications Sales, California State Department of Education, P.O. Box 271, Sacramento, CA 95802.

Users Cut-Backs Cited as Reason For Water Victory

Conservation efforts initiated by local residents some three months ago have accounted for an 11 percent drop in water sales by the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California.

John H. Lauten, Metropolitan Water District general manager, said the July sales figures dipped 11 percent lower than the sales figures for July 1976.

"Indications are that people are continuing to hold the line on wasteful water use," said Lauten. "This is a hopeful sign because we cannot relax our efforts even though we have achieved an estimated ten percent reduction in use each of the past two months.

"We need," Lauten continued, "to maintain this effort throughout the remainder of the year so we are assured of having an adequate supply in storage to carry over into 1978 in case the drought extends into a third year."

The general manager also added the city of Los Angeles, largest user of Metropolitan Water, has cut consumption by 16 percent.

Ask Your C.H.P.

CHP Capt. C.M. Douglas

Last week's question was on the Passenger Vehicle Inspection program which has been discontinued. Captain Douglas said the $8 million program was deleted in budget cuts.

If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It may save you a citation — or even your life.

Write in care of this newspaper. You do not have to sign the letter and please allow about three weeks for the reply to appear.

This Week's Question:

I've heard so much about the 55 mph speed limit. What happens if I get a ticket for speeding?

This Week's Answer:

First of all you will have to post bail with the court, which for 65 mph is $20 and for 70 mph is $35. This is only the beginning. You can normally handle the citation through the mail. Chances are that your auto insurance rates will go up appreciably. The long range effects are the most expensive. No matter what anyone says about the 55 mph limit, its a good idea to obey it.

Rabid Bat Found —Warning Issued

The first case this year of rabies in a bat has been confirmed by the San Diego County Veterinarian.

The bat was captured after swooping low then flopping about on the ground at an El Cajon residence. There were seven cases of rabies in bats last year and one in a skunk.

County Veterinarian Dr. H. C. Johnstone cautions people not to touch bats even if they appear to be dead. Dr. Johnstone said a bat that appears to be dead may still have enough life to bite, thereby transmitting rabies to its victim.

To avoid direct contact the bat should be pushed into a container with a stick and transported to the County Veterinarian's laboratory for examination. The County Veterinarian's office is located at 5555 Overland ave., Bldg. 4, in the Kearny Mesa area of San Diego. The office hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., weekdays.

San Diego County is a rabies area and the law requires all dogs four months of age and over to be vaccinated against rabies.

Revaccinations are required every two years.

However, there are no similar requirements for cats, although it is strongly recommended that cats also be vaccinated. Rabies vaccination for cats and dogs may be obtained from any veterinarian.

The County Animal Shelters provide rabies clinics on certain days throughout the week for dogs.

Shelters are at the following locations: Central County Animal Shelter, 1104 Azusa st., San Diego, 297-4763; North County Animal Shelter, 2481 Palomar Airport rd., Carlsbad, 746-1307 and 438-2774; and South County Animal Shelter, 5821 Sweetwater rd., Bonita, 263-7741.

Waste Saving Seen

San Diego is one of 39 Californian cities and sanitary districts to save an estimated total of $445 million as a result of a change in the Clean Water Act recently approved by the state senate.

Prior to the change coastal communities had been faced with the necessity to build secondary marine waste disposal treatment plants this year.

According to Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.), one of the proponents for a waiver from the plants requirements, the Pacific coastline has a rapid falloff into deep water where wastes are easily dispersed.

Ridership Up on San Diegan R.R.

SACRAMENTO — State Transportation Director Adriana Gianturco announced in Sacramento that ridership continues to increase on the Caltrans sponsored Amtrak San Diegan service between Los Angeles and San Diego.

Overall ridership is up about 28,500 over July of last year, when there were only six trains per day between the two cities. Since January 1, 1977, ridership totals 423,422.

"Last month," Gianturco said, "71,973 people rode the San Diegans, with the four trips Caltrans is underwriting accounting for nearly 22,000." The 7:30 p.m. departure from San Diego is the heaviest used Caltrans train, carrying 5,921 people last month.

Under the terms of the Caltrans agreement with Amtrak, half of operating losses will be paid by Caltrans. With the number of riders increasing continually, California's bill for the train costs has been decreasing.

"The success of the San Diegans — in supposedly auto-oriented Southern California—shows that train service is useful and needed between major cities," Gianturco added.

"Getting out of the one-person-per-car habit is not difficult, and both train rider and motorist benefit because of reduced gasoline consumption, less highway congestion, and cleaner air," Gianturca concluded.

What You Should Know

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

How to Cut Doctor Bills

The cost of treating a serious illness or accidental injury most often is unanticipated and always is unwanted. Often it is not included in the family financial plan and often it presents an extra expense on top of an already tight budget.

Like all other living expenses, the price of medical treatment has risen in recent years. But, says the American Medical Association, there are still a number of ways in which you can stretch your medical dollar and at the same time get better protection for yourself and your family.

- Have a family doctor. He will keep a permanent record of your medical history, which may save duplicating many expensive and time-consuming tests. He will know your background and be better able to tell promptly if anything is wrong.
- Don't wait too long. Many people try to save money on medical bills by not seeing the doctor until they are seriously ill. This not only defeats the purpose of preventive medicine, the only sound way to preserve your health, but it also is more expensive in the long run.
- Have regular checkups. Early detection obviously offers a better chance to control and cure disease.
- Go to the doctor's office. House calls are not only more expensive, they are also less efficient. Without his office equipment and his trained staff, your physician cannot perform a complete examination. The doctor can give you less expense in his office.
- Use the telephone. This not only saves money but also often makes good medical sense. A family doctor who has examined you regularly can sometimes advise you over the phone about minor health problems. For anything that seems serious he will ask you to come to his office to be examined.
- Follow your doctor's orders. If you refuse to follow the advice you solicit and pay for, you are throwing your money away.
- Buy health insurance. Health insurance is a bargain considering the shattering effects on the family finances that prolonged illness can have. Buy as much as you can afford but especially protect yourself against the catastrophic expenses of serious illness.
- Take allowable tax deductions. Doctor bills, hospital bills and drug costs not covered by insurance, and beyond a certain percentage of your income, may be claimed as deductions for tax purposes.

State Sales, Use Tax Distributed for August

San Marcos, with whom Lemon Grove City has been idntified with in terms of tax income, was given $50,000 for its August allocation of sales and use tax receipts.

It was provided by the State Board of Equalization which administers the 6 percent sales and use tax with 4 3/4 percent going to the state and 1 1/4 percent going to cities and counties.

Lemon Grove's share of the fund will not come until early next year.

Other comparisons are Coronado, $35,000; La Mesa, $250,000; National City, $300,000, and Vista $85,000.

SD to Receive $425,000 In Fed. Transport Money

Projects to improve transportation for the San Diego region have been assured of federal financial support totaling $425,000 for the coming year.

The federal Mass Transportation Administration (UMTA) has announced approval of CPO's application for this technical studies grant during fiscal 1977-78.

The funds will be used for current operation and future capital planning for a variety of transportation-related activities within the region. Projects involved extend from Fallbrook in North County to the San Ysidro area in South Bay.

The UMTA grant will provide funding for refining and building upon earlier transportation planning actions and recommendations already undertaken by CPO and its member jurisdictions and cooperating transit agencies.

The federal financial formula calls for 80% federal dollars, to be matched with 20% in local funds, or approximately $106,250. These will come from a variety of sources, including state Local Transportation Funds (LTF) allocations and local general funds. The total project financing will amount to approximately $531,250.

Of these funds, some $406,250 are identified with projects currently underway, or proposed by CPO. Major projects identified in the grant include: program management and coordination (administration and liaison — $73,330); transportation system management corridor studies (Interstate 8 from I-5 to El Cajon—$52,775); growth public facilities management systems (need and location for future public facilities — $41,097); and, the transportation improvement program (a five-year program of regional transportation improvements—$26,508.

The balance of the funding will be distributed among some 22 other transportation-related projects.

Two transit operating agencies within the county — San Diego Transit Corporation (SDTC) and North County Transit District (NCTD)—will also benefit from the UMTA grant.

SDTC will match some $70,000 in federal funds with $17,500 of its own money for a total of $87,500 for short range transit planning. Similarly, NCTD will add $7,500 from its budget to $30,00 in federal dollars for a total of $37,500 for planning work in its service area.

These funds will be used primarily for planning functions involving routes, schedules and identification of future needs for capital equipment.

Most of the projects funded by the UMTA grant were scheduled to provide support for implementation of the annual Regional Transportation Plan Up-Date adopted by the CPO Board of Directors on April 18th.

Metro Holds Rate Bills to Rise 12%

The Metropolitan Water District board of directors set its 1977-78 property tax rate at 12 cents for each $100 of assessed valuation. The tax rate is the same as last year but assessed valuation is up 12.2 percent.

The rate is based on a budget of $209,838,000 and a new high assessed valuation for the District's six-county service area of nearly $51.3 billion.

The 1977-78 budget shows a $16.6 million increase over the previous year, primarily reflecting higher operations and maintenance costs.

The MWD board also established the wholesale water rates it will charge its 27 member agencies for the 1978-79 and 1979-80 fiscal years.

Treated water for domestic and industrial use will be $95 an acre-foot for 1978-79 and $99 for 1979-80. The current rate for such water is $84.

As a result of the new rates, which also will increase the wholesale cost of water for groundwater replenishment and agriculture, water users, as compared with taxpayers, will bear a greater share of financing the District's operations.

New $$ Restarts Bajamar Resort

A re-financed group representing Bajamar, a resort-residential development 20 miles north of Ensenada in Baja California, announced that activity was starting again on the $17-million project.

Roberto Vales, chairman of the board of the Valcas Group, owner of the development said to be the largest privately financed one in Mexico, said that a $4.3 million bank loan had supplied the financing needed to get the resort going again.

Activity was suspended for two months as a result of the peso development and inflation. "Construction costs rose by 30 per cent so we closed operation until we got our financing into shape," Valdes said.

He said that no investor had lost money in the closedown.

Bajamar has "an extremely tough" 18-hole sea side golf course, a 28,000-square-foot clubhouse and a 120-room hotel. The hotel will be completed next summer.

La Costa, in north San Diego, is somewhat similar to the Bajamar development, a spokesman said.

A million dollar advertising campaign will be launched in the U. S. soon for the sale of 7,000 lots at Bajamar — they sell for as much as $60,000.
